RE: Speech Invitation
Airport Operators Council
International Annual Conference
Miami, Florida
October 11-16, 1987

Last April you were invited to speak at the Airport Operators Council International's (AOCI) Annual Conference to be held October 11th through 16th in Miami, Florida. AOCI represents airport authorities responsible for major airports across the United States and throughout the world. Some 1700 airport managers and aviation officials from over 230 airports from the United States and abroad will be in attendance. The event will be covered by national and trade press.

Since you were in the midst of the confirmation process, an interim letter was sent. With your fall calendar already full of other commitments and travel, I recommend that you now decline this invitation. If you agree, a letter for your signature is attached.

Dear Mr. Reilly:

Thank you for your invitation last spring to speak at the Airport Operators Council International (AOCI) Annual Conference on October 11-16 in Miami, Florida. Unfortunately, I must now decline the honor of addressing your group because of the number of official duties and travel plans involved with my new position. Please give my regards to the members of the AOCI, and I wish you a most successful conference.

Sincerely yours,

/s/ William H. Webster

Mr. William Webster
Director-Designate
Central Intelligence Agency
Washington, DC 20505

Dear Mr. Webster:

On behalf of the Board of Directors of the Airport Operators Council International, I would like to invite you to address AOCI's Annual Conference, to be held October 11-16, 1987, in Miami, Florida.

We would be pleased to have you join the distinguished speakers addressing our opening session on the morning of Tuesday, October 13. As Director of Central Intelligence and the recent past Director of the FBI, your views on international terrorism and aviation security would be of the greatest interest to our members and the public. Our conference offers you a highly-respected forum from which to address this issue that merits and receives national and international attention.

Other speakers invited to address our opening session include John Naisbitt, the eminent futurist; Dr. Willibald Pahr, Secretary General of the World Tourism Organization; and Lim Chin Beng, Deputy Chairman of Singapore International Airlines. We have invited National Security Advisor Howard Baker to speak at the luncheon following the morning session.

AOCI represents airport authorities responsible for major airports across the United States and throughout the world. Our more than 230 member airports enplane about 96 percent of the world total. Your audience would include over 1700 top airport and aviation officials from all parts of the U.S. and abroad, as well as the national and trade press.

Please ask your staff to contact me if I can provide any further information about our organization, its membership, or our conference attendees, that would help you find it possible to speak to the Conference.

I look forward to your favorable response.

Sincerely,

J. Donald Reilly
